SPRING MEDICINE

"The beneficial effects from HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA have been more speedy than from any other preparation of the kind." G. WOODMAN, Wilton, N. H.

"I had no appetite, no strength, and was feeling as mean as any one could, and be about my work. As soon as I began taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, my food relished, and I felt myself growing stronger every day. I thoroughly believe in the value of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

"If people want a medicine to go all through 'em and wake 'em up, tell 'em to take Hood's Sarsaparilla." FREEMAN N. BIXBY, Meredith Village, N. H.

F. H. PINKHAM, editor Newmarket, N. H. Advocate, writes —

"I have taken four bottles of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, this spring, and it has done me good

"My appetite was very poor, my bowels all out of order, suffering from the piles, my general health was in a very low condition, and had no ambition to do anything. Have just finished the third bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and my appetite is excellent, my bowels regular (no trouble from piles), my general health and strength restored."

Try this great medicine, now.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—dyspepsia, indigestion, headache, constipation, biliousness, loss of appetite, general debility, pains in the back, kidney complaint, female weaknesses, catarrh, scrofula, scrofulous and cancerous humors, ulcers, sores, tumors, salt rheum, and all diseases arising from an impure state or low condition of the blood.

"My wife has been suffering with debility, appetite poor, extremely tired on waking up in the morning, and she felt all wrong generally. After she had taken HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA a few days her appetite improved. That feeling of extreme weariness in the morning has entirely disappeared."

I cordially attest my faith, backed by actual trial, in the efficacy of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA as a curative for headache, biliousness, and that condition which, at times, pervades us all, commonly called "the blues." J. J. LOVELL, Greenpoint, N.Y.

Is a compound, concentrated extract, skilfully prepared, by a process peculiar to itself, of the active medicinal properties of the most approved alterative, tonic, and blood purifying remedies of the vegetable kingdom, known to medical science as Alteratives, Blood Purifiers, Diuretics, Tonics, and Stomachics. These articles have been used for years, and their medicinal value is appreciated by every mother in the land.

A gentleman tells us "Before I commenced taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA I had fallen in weight from 165 to 140 pounds. With the first bottle my appetite has returned, my strength is restored and I am rapidly regaining my flesh."

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is a great blood medicine. I have taken it myself in the spring, when I would be weak and languid. It helps me more than anything else. For a low state of blood there is nothing better. MRS. A. F. ATKINS, Lynn, Mass.

Purify Your Blood

Everybody Smiles

In Lowell when they read advertisements claiming greatest sale and popularity, at home, of any preparation of Sarsaparilla, other than Hood's.

The advertisements referred to led the proprietors of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to make a canvass of the druggists of Lowell, which revealed the fact that quite a number of them did not keep other Sarsaparillas, and established to a certainty that the Druggists of Lowell—the home of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA—sell ten bottles of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to one of all other kinds.

A SEARCHING INVESTIGATION

Resulted in the combination of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, which is peculiar to itself, is vastly superior to other preparations, and is much more positive in its effects upon the blood and organs of the body. Time and constant use have proved its efficacy beyond a question. The wonderful results from its use, prove more than was ever claimed for it.

100 Doses One Dollar

"I owe my recovery to HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA It deserves the confidence of the public." JOSIAH PITKIN, Chelsea, Vt.

The bronze statue of the late Francis M. Drexel, of Philadelphia, which is to crown the huge fountain now being erected by his sons, F. A. and A. J. Drexel, in Chicago, has been finished and is ready for shipment from the Philadelphia foundry to Chicago. It is eight feet high and represents Mr. Drexel standing in an easy position, his right arm and hand resting on the top of a stump.

A Spanish magistrate, shocked and exasperated by repeated proof of the adulteration of food in his district, has issued a proclamation aflame with righteous wrath, declaring that "all articles in the shape of wines, groceries and provisions, which upon examination and analysis are proved to be injurious to health, will be confiscated forthwith and distributed to the different charitable institutions."

A Kentuckian lost a field of wheat in a curious manner during the late floods. He resides on the lowlands near Paducah. The wheat had come up nicely, when a heavy storm of sleet fell and covered his farm with a thick coating of ice. Before the ice melted the river overflowed the field, the ice rose to the surface of the water and pulled up with it every wheat blade. The last he saw of his crop it was following his fence down the Ohio on its road to the Gulf.

Alexander H. Mitchell, of Milwaukee, is said to be worth $15,000,000, and he has in Scotland, whence he came, a schoolmate who is worth $40,000,000. It is related that the two met in France a few years ago and spent the day together. The Glasgow man paid all the bills. At the close of the day, when the two sat down to dinner, the Glasgow banker pulled out a card, and, turning to Mitchell, he said: "Sandy, you owe me $1 65." This was Sandy's share of the expense of the day.

In his letter presenting to the University of Vermont the magnificent library left by the late George P. Marsh, United States Minister to Italy, the Hon. Frederick Billings urged the necessity of putting up at once a fire-proof library building to contain the eleven thousand volumes, as well as the other collections belonging to the college. Then he added, as a sort of afterthought: "As no time should be lost, and as the University has no funds to devote to the purpose, I give $75,000 to secure such a building."

More Americans will visit Europe this summer than ever before.

The largest order for printing blank forms ever given to the public printer is that of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for blanks and labels required to carry into effect the provisions of law relative to the rebate on tobacco and cigars. This order was for 50,000,000 labels and 750,000 blanks for the use of manufacturers and dealers. There is a great demand for these blanks, one manufacturer alone having sent for 750,000 labels. The demand is being met as rapidly as the circumstances will permit.

A child has been born in Turkish Kurdistan with a full beard and mustache, a perfect set of thirty-two teeth and no less than forty distinct and well formed fingers. Naturally, such a prodigy attracted great attention, but several visitors inspected it at their cost, for it snapped its thirty-two teeth at everybody who came within range with such energy and success that it became necessary to extract all the front ones. It is a wonderful thing to see the infant lying in his cradle, stroking his beard with his forty fingers.

An ejectment suit in which the plaintiff is 101 years old, is about to be tried in Reading, Pennsylvania. It is brought by Baltzer Gehr, the son of a captain in the Revolutionary army, who hopes to dispossess a number of his relatives, one of whom is in her ninety-third year, and to recover a farm of 221 acres in Maxatawny township, which his father's brother owned and was buried in in 1801. Numerous suits and counter-suits have wrought such confusion that possession is probably the best title now, and the nonogenarian occupant is not likely to be disturbed by the centenarian claimant.

A member of the French Academy who owns a fine farm in Normandy and takes special pride in his high bred cows and pretty dairy, has been perplexed and distressed by the strange appearance which the milk assumed after it had stood a few hours in the pans. Upon its surface dark blue spots would appear, destroying its private attractions and its market value. Moreover, all the people in the neighborhood were convinced that the dairy was an abode of the Evil One, with whom some of them even went so far as to identify its owner. For two years the academician pondered the mystery in vain, but at last he has reached the simple conclusion that the vessels containing the milk were not thoroughly cleaned. The microscope revealed hosts of fungus germs, for which through the lack of a sufficiently prolonged bath in boiling water, the pans afforded an excellent breeding ground. Immersion for at least five minutes effectually destroys these organisms, and that treatment has been adopted at the Norman dairy of M. Ruset.

NEW MAGAZINES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for May is an exceedingly interesting and beautifully illustrated number. The opening article is a striking and novel presentation of the salient features of San Francisco, by W. H. The article is illustrated by portraits of Louis XVI., Count de Vergennes, and the four American Commissioners. ORDER OF THE SONS OF VETERANS.

LYNN, March 26, 1883.

Mr. Editor:—Permit me to encroach on your columns by an explanation of the Order over which I have recently been selected as Grand Commander. Our Order was instituted in Philadelphia in 1879, or early in 1880, having for its cardinal principles, calculated to perpetuate those virtues, the result of the late war, as expressed so truthfully by that noble Order, the Grand Army of the Republic—"Fraternity, Charity, Loyalty." While we as their sons hope and ask for a recognition [illegible] sympathy from the G. A. R., yet we claim to be entirely independent of, and in no way desiring to be considered as an adjunct of it; but we shall inculcate in the S[illegible] love of country, that charity for needy returned veterans, and widows and orphans of those deceased, and that fraternity which for the character of our kindred feelings, shall unite us in a strong and honorable body. We have separate Divisions in nine States at present, and applications for others leading to formation. Since our organization another branch, representing the same principles as ourselves, has sprung into existence, differing from our Order in so far that lineal descendants of veterans, whether sons, grandsons or next of kin, are eligible to membership; and, again, that branch is officered largely by gentlemen whom we respect as high in the Order of the G. A. R. but who are not Sons of Veterans, but acknowledge themselves as honorary members. It is to be hoped that the honest efforts now being made to consolidate all branches may be successful, and by reuniting all Sons in one Order, the desired end of placing it on a firm basis may be attained, and that it may take its place among the best Orders in the land, and be in position to take up the work of the G. A. R., when, by natural causes, those patriotic defenders of our flag and its destinies must surrender their charge.

Yours, fraternally,
EDWIN EARP, JR.,
Grand Commander Sons of Veterans.

STATE NEWS.

Auburn's school population is 3055. The school attendance is 1551, and not 1051 as stated in the school report and published some two weeks since.

On account of the resignation of Rev. Thomas Tyrie, of the office of Post Commander of Burnside Post, Auburn, in view of his removal from that city at an early date, a special election was held Wednesday, which resulted as follows: Delance Young, Post Commander; J. E. Ashe, Senior Vice Commander; Geo. D. Barnum, Junior Vice Commander; H. B. Sawyer, Officer of the Day; Geo. H. Howard, Officer of the Guard. They were installed into their respective stations by past Post Commander Tyrie. This post is now the largest in the State, numbering 350 comrades.

Charles S. Andrews, of Otisfield, died in Norway, Thursday, aged thirty-one. He graduated at Bowdoin in 1876, and the past six years had been in the practice of the law in San Francisco, acting the past year as clerk in the office of Mayor Blake, his uncle. He failed in health last year and took a trip to South Carolina, but without avail. Longing to return home he undertook the journey and reached there in an exhausted condition last week.

Herbert M. Kennedy, of Somerville, Maine, a student in the Waterville Classical Institute, died at Waterville, on last Sunday morning, at the age of eighteen years. He had been sick with the measles and was thought to be recovering, when typhoid pneumonia of a malignant type set in, and death ensued in ten hours after he was pronounced dangerous by his physician.

The Mail says: Owing to the neglect of the lumbermen above Waterville to obey the law forbidding the throwing of mill refuse into the river, the cotton mills have been seriously inconvenienced for a few days past. Nearly fifty men have been kept at work clearing the racks, and yet they have only been able to run the looms, and those not all the time. This condition of things ought to be remedied.

The Augusta Journal says: The Scripture speaks of finding money in a fish's mouth, but the finding of a coin in a pig's mouth is a novel experience. But a case of the latter description happened one day. Mr. William S. Keene is yard-master of the Maine Central railroad station. On the day mentioned he was turning a switch just back of the Cony and Farrar stables, when he noticed a sable-coated pig looking demurely out through a hole from beneath the stable. Piggy peeked out and grunted approvingly when suddenly Mr. Keene's attention was arrested by some bright object glittering in the animal's mouth. At first he thought it was a bit of tin, but upon proceeding to the aperture the pig scampered off and dropped the bright object from his mouth. Our friend stooped and picked it up and lo! it was a bright silver half-dollar. Mr. Keene pocketed the coin and now keeps it as a souvenir of his lucky experience.

MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1883.

The Macon Telegraph declares that with 60,000 majority in Georgia the Democracy cannot carry that State on a free trade issue.

Last October the Democracy carried Cincinnati by 10,689 majority; this year by 2,200 and the Democratic roosters are splitting their throats over the victory.

There is no punishment that the courts can inflict which will be adequate for the case of Scheller if it is proved that he deliberately set fire to the Newhall House in Milwaukee, and caused the death of 75 persons.

When the Princess Louise was in Bermuda, she awoke one night, and finding her room on fire awakened the family The flames were put out, and though some of the ladies in waiting got quite hysterical the Princess maintained her equanimity and conducted the affair so that no news of it reached her host, Mr. Trimingham, who was ill.

The Democratic nomination for Governor in Georgia was made by a compromise committee, and was finally carried by one vote. The supporters of Mr. Bacon, it is said, were very angry at the result and after the convention they held an informal caucus, and put their candidate up for the race next year, announcing their determination that he must have office. This action created great indignation among the friends of other candidates.

Secretary Folger made a ruling that the portion of the act of Feb. 8, 1875, which imposes a duty on tin cans containing fish that are entitled to free admission under the Washington treaty with Great Britain remains in force, notwithstanding the fact that it was not incorporated in the new tariff act. He decided that this ruling is also applicable to grain bags of foreign manufacture exported filled with American wheat, and which return empty, free entry for which is allowed by the act of 1875. The new tariff act makes no reference to this subject.

There is pending before the Pennsylvania Legislature a bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of infernal machines and other devices to destroy life and injure property. The act constitutes such manufacture and sale a misdemeanor, punishable, on conviction, with a fine not less than $500 nor more than $5 000, with imprisonment of from one to five years. The question of intent in the person charged with the offence made punishable by this bill is to be left to a jury to determine, but the possession of any infernal machine is to be considered as prima facie evidence of a design to violate the act.

Postmaster General Gresham has approved a design for the new 2-cent postage stamp. The stamp contains a tablet upon which is a profile of Washington, similar to that on the present 3-cent stamp. Surrounding the profile is an oval band. In the upper part of the band the words "United States Postage" beneath the band, a large "2," and at the extreme bottom of the tablet the words "Two Cents." The design will be returned to the American Bank Note Company of New York for engraving, after which the department will decide upon the color to be used. The color of the design which has been approved is green

The Star Route trial is approaching its end The Court has adjourned until Tuesday It is expected that the Government will be able to put in all its rebutting evidence on that day and that on Wednesday Mr Ker will commence the argument for the Government The defendants who spoke with such confidence that they would put all persons prominently connected with the defence on the stand, and who specially mentioned Bosler at the last moment, have declined to put Bosler on the stand, and the rumor is that the reason which controlled the counsel in this refusal is that there are statements in his book which would result, on cross-examination, in damaging disclosures —Wash Cor. Boston Journal

An exchange says All railroad men are now interested in an invention called the telegraph rail, and many believe it is destined to supercede the steel rails now in use The new rail is hollow, in two sections the upper one fitting nicely over the lower, like the cover of a box Through this hollow, are run insulated telegraph wires, similar in principal to the ocean cable. The invention is serviceable for either telegraph or telephone wires, and rails are made for horse as well as for steam railroads. Over fifty wires can be accommedated in each rail, at a saving, it is claimed, in poles, weight of wire, and cross-bars, of $1,000 per mile, in the construction of telegraph lines An important element of the new invention is the saving of lumber now used for telegraph poles, which it may effect.

The Washington correspondent of the Buffalo Courier thinks the claim of Mr. Randall's friends that "over forty Democratic members of the next House of Representatives have virtually pledged themselves to vote for his nomination for the Speakership' is not "very alarming in view of the fact that about ninety-seven votes will be necessary for a choice." "The situation now," he adds, "is very similar to that of 1875. Then, as now, the controlling issue in the Speakership contest was the tariff question. In all essential particulars Carlisle represents the same elements and the same forces which rallied to Kerr's support in 1875, when the question uppermost in the minds of the Democrats was the question of revenue reform. Randall was beaten in 1875 because New York refused to support him, and the probability is that he will be beaten next December because of failure to receive a majority of the votes of the New York Democratic delegation. During all of the tariff debates of last winter he did not make a decent, respectable attempt to aid the revenue reformers in anything. On the contrary, he was a thorn in their side throughout the contest. In the face of these facts, and in view of his avowed opposition to general tariff legislation by the XLVIIIth Congress, the supposition that the Democrats will make him Speaker of the next House is highly grotesque."

THE SHORE LINE RAILROAD.

APPEAL OF THE COMMITTEE TO THE CITIZENS AND BUSINESS MEN OF BANGOR.

The undersigned committee, appointed at the railroad meeting held at the City Hall on Tuesday, April 3, 1883, and the members subsequently added to the committee, most respectfully but earnestly make this statement and appeal to you in reference to the Shore Line Railroad. The statement of Col. Greene and the very generous offer and the entire fairness of the proposition he made to Bangor is no doubt familiar to you all. The committee and other prominent business men of this city assured him at the time that there could be no doubt that Bangor would contribute that small sum to this great work; and we wish to say that we confidently expected beyond a question that the small sum be asked for would be readily subscribed and assured within a week after the meeting was held.

Yet twelve days have elapsed and 18 names and only about one-half the sum has been secured. He frankly stated all the resources and cash he had secured towards building this road, and you all know from the experience of the past in railroad building that he has very small means with which to accomplish such a work; and he positively assures us that the amount of aid asked for, small as it is between Bangor and Sullivan, is absolutely necessary to the successful accomplishment of this enterprise, and without it he does not see his way to succeed. He is decided in his opinion that this work shall not be commenced at all unless ways and means are made sure to complete it in a good manner and within the time he names, and we strongly coincide with him in this judgment.

We think if the business men of Bangor will but give the subject a moment's thought, they will see the great importance of securing such a boon to our city as the completion of this road will be, for so small an outlay. We wish to call your attention to the fact that a few years since, after a thorough discussion and an appeal to the voters of this city, we came within a very few votes of lending the aid of the corporation to build the road to the extent of $150,000 Then we were distressed by heavy outlays for two other railroads, whose outlook was anything but cheerful, as to the return of either principal or interest upon our investments. Now, those investments have proved highly successful and remunerative, and the entire outlay of the city made safe, and the wisdom of your action proved and justified.

Then we were almost unanimous in voting to tax ourselves $150,000 for this very important work. Now you are only asked to contribute one tenth of that sum The two counties of Washington and Hancock that this road will traverse contain a population of 83 000, with an assessed valuation of $18,000,000 and a real valuation of at least $40,000,000. They are shut out and isolated by their geographical position from all commercial intercourse with our city almost as effectually as if they belonged to another State or country. This road will bring them to our doors in from one to four hours' time and at a great saving to them. We have a fine harbor for outward commerce, cheap rents and every facility for doing business, and in fact there is no reason whatever why nine tenths of the trade and passenger traffic of these flourishing and populous counties should not make their chief business centre here. On the other hand there is every reason imaginable why they should. This road will secure that trade and business for our city. We need not argue with shrewd business men a question that is so self evident as this. Remember that this road cannot be built and this trade brought to our city without bringing with it benefit and advancement to every interest, commercial and real estate as well We appeal not only to the manifest interest of our whole city, but to its pride in its good name as well, and ask that every citizen make it a point to interest himself and aid us in any way possible to make up this present week the small remaining sum, $7,500, to secure which we consider the greatest benefit for the smallest cost that has ever been offered to our city. The committee will be enlarged and visit all parties and solicit their co-operation and aid with a view to close the business if possible this week, as Mr. Greene informs us it is highly important in connection with other interests to the success of of this project that this matter be closed by Tuesday, the 24th of April at furthest.

DEATHS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The death statistics of the United States, as summarized in the published figures of the census of 1880, are of great interest. It appears that in 1880 the deaths in the United States were 756 893, or 15 1 deaths to every thousand of the population. The census of 1870 showed a death rate of only 12 8 per thousand. It is well known however that the statistics of 1870 were incomplete and that the actual rate was larger Even the figures of 1880 are probably not quite large enough. The probable death rate in this country is about 18 per thousand. This figure is lower than the death rate in any European country. The death rate in England is 20½ per thousand and in Scotland over 21.

Of the 756,893 deaths recorded in the census returns, 640,191 were of whites, out of a total white population of 43,402,970, and 116,702 of negroes, out of a total colored population of 6,752 813. The apparent death-rate, therefore, was 14 74 among the whites and 17 28 among the negroes. A greater relative mortality among colored infants in the Southern States largely explains the higher negro death rate, which must be accepted as proved, we suppose, since, deficient as the mortality statistics among the whites may be, there is good reason for regarding the returns of negro mortality as still more incomplete.

Of the deaths reported, 391,960 were of males and 364,933 of females, the total living population having been 25,518,820 males and 24,636,963 females. For every 1,000 deaths of females there were 1,074 of males.

The proportion of males dying in infancy was also greater than that of females. Of the 390,044 males who died 163,860 were under 5 years of age, while of the 363,874 females who died 138,928 were under 5 years; that is, the proportion of deaths under 5 years of age to all deaths recorded was 419 51 per 1,000 among males, while among females it was only 381.85. Nearly half the male mortality was among very young children.

The causes of death were reported in only 733,840 cases, and the following table gives the number of deaths from each of the ten principal causes:

Consumption,	91,551
Diphtheria,	38,398
Diarrhœal diseases,	65,565
Diseases of nervous system,	83,670
Diseases of respiratory system,	107,904
Diseases of digestive system,	34,094
Enteric (typhoid) fever,	22,905
Measles,	8,773
Scarlet fever,	16,418
Whooping cough,	11,309

Consumption was, as always, the great scourge, and it carried off a considerably larger proportion of females than males, the deaths from that cause being 40,619 males to 50,932 females. It is very instructive to observe that the mortality from consumption in the North Atlantic and Lake regions was highest in the small towns and agricultural districts, while on the Gulf Coast it was greatest in the city of New Orleans, with its wretched sewerage and drainage system.

Enteric or typhoid fever is also more especially a disease of the country rather than the city. The better drainage which ordinarily prevails in the large towns makes them less liable to that fever than the smaller communities and scattered settlements, where necessary precautions against the pollution of the water supply are not generally taken, and accumulations of filth in vaults and cesspools are common. Malarial fevers, likewise, were more prevalent and more fatal proportionately in the smaller communities than in the great cities. The same was the case with diphtheria.

The great city, especially since the increase of sanitary knowledge, has many advantages over the country with respect to health. It has a crowded population, it is true, but its comparatively confined air may be less injurious to the inhabitants than that which sweeps over an open country, where it may waft poison from swamps and marshes, and where a scientific system of sewerage and drainage is barely practicable.

The report of the number of deaths due to accidents and injuries is interesting:

Burns and scalds,	4 786
Drowned,	4,320
Exposure and neglect,	1,299
Gunshot wounds,	2,239
Homicide,	1,336
Infanticide,	40
Injuries by machinery,	120
Railroad accidents,	2,349
Suffocation,	2,339
Suicide by shooting,	473
Suicide by drowning,	155
Suicide by poison,	340
Other suicides,	1,550
Sunstrokes,	557
Other accidents and injuries,	13 980

WHY HE DID IT.

"When I came to Edinburg," said Dr. Guthrie, "the people sometimes laughed at my blue stockings and at my cotton umbrella, and they said I looked like a common ploughman, and they derided me because I lived in a house for which I paid thirty five pounds rent a year, and often times I have walked when I would have been very glad to have a cab, but, gentlemen, I did all that because I wanted to pay the premium on my life insurance that would keep my family if I should die"

RUBBER BELTING.
Important to all who use Belting.

We have just patented a new article in Rubber Belting which is sold under the name of GIANT BELTING.

This Belting is put with the usual plies of Duck and Rubber, and, before putting on the outside cover, it is stitched in seams one inch apart, with cotton cord, which has a pulling strength of fifty pounds. It is then stretched in its plastic state, drawing the plies so close together that with the strong cord with which it is stitched, material strength is added to the belt, and the stitches are so drawn into the plastic rubber, that they cannot wear off on the on side The outside cover is then put on seamless, so that it cannot open, as is the case of Rubber Belting made in the ordinary way, and the plies being so firmly stitched as well as frictioned together, that the belt cannot separate as many belts made in the ordinary way will, after being used for a time, especially when run at great speed or in damp places.

We particularly call the attention of all mill owners to this belt as being in the end the cheapest belt they can buy, while the first cost is only about ten per cent. more than belting made in the ordinary way. We believe it will wear more than double the length of time for heavy main belts you will find it superior to anything made. It is also superior for Endless Belts, as we stitch the splice in such a way that it cannot separate

Try our Giant Belts. We will warrant satisfaction.

CICERO OR KICKERO!

("You pays your money and takes your choice" of the pronunciation) once remarked in one of his 4th of July orations, that in his opinion, he thought that silent prudence was better policy than a whole rag of loquacious folly. Mrs. C., or K., had probably been to the Weekly Sewing Circle on the previous day and had probably given the old man an ear full of the current yarns of the day, hence the remark "Silence of any kind does not do for one engaged in the shoe business, unless one wishes to revel in solitude and become moss grown." Therefore, with all due respect to Cicero, or any other man that upholds his policy, we shall continue, while our ink bottle holds out, to call the ladies' attention that like a stylish and at the same time easy and durable boot, to the which, to be genuine, must be stamped, according to an Act of Congress. The party arrived at Tocoi at 6 o'clock this morning and went thence by rail to St. Augustine, which point was reached two hours later. Here they were met by a committee headed by Gen. Dent, ex-President Grant's brother-in-law, and escorted to the Magnolia Hotel, where a reception was held. The President expects to remain at St. Augustine till Tuesday and go fishing for channel bass. He has received urgent invitations from prominent [illegible] here to revisit this city, but [illegible] accept. The U. Hanlan vs. Ross.

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 14. It is at last settled apparently that Hanlan and Ross will meet this season and decide the question of superiority. Ross received a telegram to-day from Hanlan stating that Ogdensburg offers a purse of $3,000 to the winner, and as both oarsmen are willing the race will take place there. Ross will forward his first deposit to the Turf, Field and Farm on Monday and will send articles of agreement for approval.

The Marquis and Princess.

BOSTON, April 15. The rather tempestuous voyage from Bermuda to Newport [illegible] the Princess Louise and until noon to-day she stopped quietly at the Hotel Brunswick. In the forenoon the Marquis of Lorne with two gentlemen of the Princess' party took a long walk, and in the afternoon the whole party went upon a pedestrian excursion, returning shortly before 6 o'clock. Neither the Marquis nor the Princess attended church to-day. It was expected they would be present at the service in Trinity church and there was an unusually large attendance this forenoon. It is understood the Vice Regal party will go sight-seeing to-morrow and at 7 P. M. a train will probably be taken for Ottawa via Montreal.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Society of the Jesuits and the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Jesuit Province of Maryland was celebrated in the churches yesterday.

General News.

Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 14. Secretary Folger has appointed a committee, consisting of J. C. New, assistant secretary, James H. Robinson, assistant secretary of the Treasury, and W. F. Maclellan, chief of the warrant division, to investigate the charges of official misconduct recently filed against James G. Hill, supervising architect of the Treasury.

Financial.

Up to the close of business to-day U. S. called bonds had been redeemed at the Treasury Department as follows: Under the 114th call, $14,903,300; 115th call, $15,814,800; 116th call, $3,168,930; 117th call, $25,862,050; 118th call, $14,948,350; 119th call, $14,115,300; 120th call, $4,227,350.

WORK OF THE FLAMES.

Sixteen Buildings Burned.

BALTIMORE, April 14. A despatch from Crisfield, Md., says a fire broke out in Goodsell's alley this morning and spread very rapidly. Sixteen buildings were burned, among them the following: J. E. Sterling & Co., J. A. Hearnes & Co., J. W. Gillert & Co., C. B. Aspbrill, J. C. Taws, J. A. Vandegrift, C. Lankford, the Express office, Leader office, T. S. Hodson's residence and several others. Loss estimated at $100,000; insurance about $400,000. Very little was saved from the buildings. Origin of the fire unknown.

Serious Loss in New York.

NEW YORK, April 15. The five story building, Nos. 279, 281 and 283 Broadway, occupied by Bradstreet's Commercial Agency, E. Remington & Sons, rifle manufacturers, and the Hall Safe and Lock Company, was gutted by fire to-day. Total loss about $170,000. The fire is attributed to spontaneous combustion of ammunition stored in the cellar under the warerooms of the Remingtons. The losses are divided as follows: Bradstreet's Commercial Agency $100,000; Remington & Sons, $50,000, Hall Safe and Lock Company, $5,000, and building, $15,000. In Bradstreet's offices were stored many years' accumulations of statistics and financial and commercial information. It was hoped these might be saved as they were stored in fire proof safes. The firm recently had their stock insured for $100,000, and this will probably cover their loss if the books are not destroyed.

A MENTAL WRECK.

The Ravings of Jack Cole of the Unfortunate Jeannette Crew.

WASHINGTON, April 14. Jack Cole, the member of the Jeannette party who was driven insane by his sufferings, continues a mental wreck. It was hoped, when he was brought home, that a few months' rest and care under skilled physicians would restore him to his usual mental condition; but this hope, it is now feared, will not be realized. One of the recently returned members of the Jeannette party visited him in company with Lieut. Danenhower recently, at the St. Elizabeth's hospital here, where he has been for some months. They found him in a sad condition. Physically, he seems to be well enough—too well in fact, for some of the physicians at the hospital, for one of them carries a black eye and another a very sore head from his extreme physical vigor. Lately he has grown somewhat violent, for the restraint of the hospital is very irksome to him after his years of outdoor life. Demonstrations of this sort have resulted in his being put in "harness," a restraint which, while it does not interfere with the use of his hands and arms for reasonable purposes, does not permit him to a rise. Jack's special mania, is a belief that he is very wealthy. When Lieut. Danenhower and the members of the Jeannette party called on him the other day he handed them a check for a million dollars for their personal expenses, remarking that they could get it cashed at any of the banks, all of which he said belonged to him.

ANOTHER BLOW.

Many Buildings Damaged.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 16. Friday night's storm was very violent here and at Adair west of here, a hotel addition was demolished and the roof of Myer's block blown off. Moran & McManus' new building was demolished and twenty stables were blown from their foundations. Some damage was also done at Anita. The people fled to caves for protection. A large barn south of Anita was blown down and a house was struck by lightning and burned.

ST. PAUL, April 15. This storm has cut off all telegraphic communication with the west and north further than Brainard, in this State. The gale was blowing here all day yesterday with occasional rain and hail.

Reports from Different Points.

CHICAGO, April 15. Reports from various points throughout the northwest state that heavy wind storms were experienced yesterday and last night in many localities, accompanied by a driving rain. The disturbances covered portions of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. Considerable damage was done to houses, barns and fences, but no loss of life is reported. In Chicago and through northern Illinois a stiff gusty gale prevailed, accompanied by heavy rain. The telegraph wires were greatly obstructed.

RIOTS AT AN END.

Several Persons Under Arrest.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 14. Since the riots Thursday and Thursday night there has been no disturbances at the rolling mills, and it is hoped that the troubles are at an end. Several parties who are supposed to have participated in the riots were arrested this forenoon and warrants are out for others. It cannot as yet be ascertained what evidence the authorities have against the suspected persons.

OHIO.

At the Point of Death.

CINCINNATI, April 15. Rev. Dr. Charles B. Boynton, formerly Chaplain of Congress, is lying at the point of death in Mt. Auburn at the house of his son-in-law. His two sons, Henry and Charles, the former of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette and the latter of the Associated Press, arrived from Washington to-day.

WHERE WILL IT END!

Singular Verdict Against a Railroad Company.

NEW YORK, April 15. Major John T. Harrold was injured March 25, 1876, in a collision at the Forty-second street station of the New York Elevated Railroad. He sued for $50,000 damages, Dr. J. T. Deyo, his physician, being the principal witness for him. The jury gave him $30,000 damages which, with $1,060 costs, is now deposited with a Trust Company. The case was appealed, but the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. In August last the Railroad Company moved for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

The motion was denied. Then the company began a suit against Dr. Deyo, Major Harrold and his sister, Mrs. Barber, on the charge of conspiracy. In this suit affidavits were made by William Christie, builder, G. W. Hawk, R. B. Fallarn, J. A. Walker, James and John Shiel and R. A. Johnson, that on the day following the accident they saw Major Harrold walking about in apparent good health. Dr. Deyo made affidavit that at the time Harrold was in bed with two broken ribs and hemorrhage.

Dr. Deyo on Wednesday made application for warrants against these men on a charge of perjury. They were cited to appear before Justice Patterson to-day. All came but James Shiel and Fallarn. At noon John Shiel went to the District Attorney's office and told a long story, saying that he was drunk when he signed his affidavit; that he did not see Major Harrold walking about, and that his father had told him he could make $500 and a life position by signing the affidavit.

He told of meeting McDonald, the notary public before whom the affidavit was sworn to, and of being promised money. Cross-examined, he contradicted himself. He was sent to the house of detention. The others were held in $1,000 bail each.

POPULAR CLERGYMAN UNDER A MULE.

It was in the Yosemite, on a steep and rugged mountain road. The party numbered about a dozen, and the jolliest of all was a well known dominie. Somehow or other his mule stumbled and rolled over and over, the dominie clinging fast to him. When they came to a stop the mule was on top. Both the dominie and the mule were badly bruised. One of the party happened to have a bottle of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. In a few hours they were ready to proceed on their journey. mar...

The fire was in a house on the Hogan road near the Mount Hope avenue and occupied by Mrs. Bridget Flaherty. The building was completely destroyed, but an adjacent barn was saved by considerable exertion.

MEMORIAL DAY. B. H. Beale Post, No. 12, G. A. R., is making extensive preparations for the proper observance of Memorial Day; a day sacred to the memory of the brave men who fell fighting to protect the flag of our country and to secure equal rights and National unity for every American citizen for all future time. During the day members of the Post will visit the several cemeteries and upon each hallowed mound place a wreath of evergreen, a bouquet of flowers and plant thereon the flag of our country, the flag they loved so well, whose starry folds they followed during their long marches, and around which they rallied and gave up their lives on bloody battlefields. During the winter months a drum corps, consisting of twenty-four boys, sons of members of the Post, has been under efficient tuition and have gained great proficiency; they will be uniformed in Zouave costume, and will lead the procession to Mount Hope cemetery. Rev. E. E. Peck has kindly consented to deliver the oration. Due notice will be given to the public as soon as the details for the observance of the day is completed.

SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY. Yesterday the Union street Methodist Sabbath school observed its thirty-sixth anniversary, with an appropriate sermon to the children in the morning by the Rev. M. W. Prince and a Sabbath school concert in the evening. The reports of the secretary and treasurer show the school to be in a very prosperous condition. The concert programme consisted of an exercise entitled "Our Father Giveth the Seasons." The seasons were appropriately represented by Marian Grey as springtime, Lizzie Teff as summertime, Agnes Pearson as autumn, and Minnie Tukesbury as winter. This exercise was followed by a representation of "Falling Leaves," by Marian Curtis and "Immortality," by Alice Neghall. The concert closed by a song and chorus by the children, accompanied on the organ by Miss Berry and on cornets by Messrs. Dickey and Adams. The concert was highly interesting from the beginning to its close. The audience room was profusely decorated with flowers and plants and the appearance presented was very beautiful. The attendance was remarkably large and every seat and all available standing room was taken, while hundreds were obliged to depart without gaining entrance to the church. At the regular session of the Sunday school the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year: F. A. Curtis, superintendent; W. L. Miller, assistant superintendent; John Dunning, secretary; A. L. Atkins, treasurer; and Edward Brann, librarian.

THE MYSTERY PROBABLY SOLVED.

Additional Developments in the Emerson Case.

The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of the relatives of the late Charles Emerson, who met his death last fall in Madagascar, is now apparently solved. Additional developments were made on Saturday which put an entirely new phase to the affair and demonstrated that up to that time the search had been prosecuted in the wrong direction.

Timothy Emerson, residing in this city, on Essex street, and Bradford Baston, of Levant, called at the Bangor House, on Mr. Hulett, Saturday. The former represented himself as the uncle of the late Charles Emerson, while Mr. Baston claimed that his wife was an aunt of the deceased. According to their story the late Charles Emerson was a son of Mr. James Emerson, who formerly lived about five miles out on Essex street in the edge of Orono. The father was killed by a falling tree many years ago. Charles Emerson enlisted from Orono in Co. K, 16th Maine regiment, in 1863. After coming out of the army at the close of the war he returned to Bangor and then went to California. Mrs. Biglur, a sister of the late Charles Emerson, lives in Carson City, Nevada. In California he did not prosper and he went to British Columbia. He did not meet with success there and went to the diamond fields of South Africa. After reaching the latter place Charles wrote his sister that he was doing well and at one time sent her a diamond that was valued at $100. There was quite a period during which Mrs. Biglur did not hear from her brother, and so she wrote to some lodge to which her brother belonged, and received a reply saying that her brother was well and prospering. Mrs. Biglur has two brothers living about 100 miles from Carson City.

There is little doubt but that the Charles Emerson described above is the one who met his death in the tragic manner already described. As soon as communication can be had with Mrs. Biglur and the two brothers, it is thought corroborating evidence will be secured which will settle the question beyond dispute. A letter has been received by Mr. Hulett from a party in Winslow which gives additional weight to the above. Previous mention has been made of Mrs. Annie Smith, of this city, who thought she was a sister of the murdered Charles Emerson. On Saturday, another sister, Mrs. Star by name, came from Hampden, but from her testimony it seems their brother was about fifty years old, that being an age considerably more than that of the partner of Mr. Hulett.

Mr. Hulett is still in the city and he [illegible]fatigable in his efforts to find the friends of the deceased. His trip to America was made entirely with the object of finding the heirs of his partner, in order that they may come into possession of the property which rightfully belongs to them. Mr. Hulett was so desirous to ferret them out that after returning to England from Madagascar he came at once to this country before visiting his own family in Australia. His course of action is worthy of the highest praise.

Mr. Hulett leaves by steamer to-day for Boston and will thence journey to Washington, from which he will probably return to this city in about three weeks.

MILLINERY OPENINGS.

Brilliant Display of Spring and Summer Hats and Bonnets.

Saturday was one of the fairest days of joyous springtime and the ladies embraced the favorable opportunity thus presented to come out en masse and witness the artistic display of spring and summer hats and bonnets, it being "Opening Day" at two of the principal millinery establishments in the city.

C. W. COFFIN & CO.'S.

The spacious and commodious establishment of C. W. Coffin & Co., No. 18 Main street, was thronged throughout the day with a great throng of ladies and words of praise for the fine array of choice millinery were upon every lip. The beautiful picture presented by the pattern bonnets elegantly trimmed and arranged with faultless taste could not fail to delight the eye of the most fastidious. The styles are even more varied in form than usual and some of the new shapes are very unique and beautiful. The colors this season are very brilliant and numerous of the shades are observed now for the first time. It is becoming the fashion to bedeck the hats very heavily and the trimmings are more elaborate and profuse than have been witnessed before for many years. Gilt lace and gilt cashmere lace enter quite largely into trimmings and a novel feature in decoration is the artistic arrangement of autumn leaves. Some of the bonnets were extremely elegant and it would seem as if the tastes of the ladies could surely be satisfied. At this establishment there is always to be found a full assortment of Butterick's patterns.

MISS H. E. SEAVEY'S.

The well known establishment of Miss H. E. Seavey, a No. 72 Main street, was early in the day a centre of attraction to admiring hosts of ladies and throughout the later hours of the forenoon and the entire afternoon a ceaseless throng held possession of the premises. With characteristic taste Miss Seavey arranged a display of great beauty and attractiveness, surpassing even the many brilliant exhibitions given by her in the past. Amidst this bewildering array a lady is for some time at a loss to decide which most nearly accords with her fancy. The newer styles are some of them exceedingly becoming and the unusually elaborate trimmings add very materially to the attractiveness. Where there is so much that is artistic and fascinating it is about useless to attempt to particularize. One of the prettiest hats was trimmed with an ostrich plume in which were nestled several cunning humming birds. In one instance there was a combination of crushed raspberry and crushed strawberry, which was quite unique. The trimmings of the bonnets were very beautiful and called forth admiration from all.

AMUSEMENTS

Nick of the Woods.

The veteran Joseph Proctor, assisted by Miss Annie Proctor and a motley company, in which the Indians were the central figure, presented at the Opera House on Saturday night, that strangest of dramatic productions "Nick of the Woods" before an audience which crowded the upper gallery but was less numerous in the orchestra and balcony. The play is a tale of border life in the early part of the century, and in the peculiar creation of Jibbenainosay Mr. Proctor has appeared on the stage for a period of years equal to the span of an ordinary lifetime. The drama abounds in "blood and thunder" episodes and is one of the most pronounced specimens of this type. The Indians were extremely good, and Wanonga sustained his part in a very spirited manner. The closing farce, "My Neighbor's Wife," was quite humorous. The company will perform at the Opera House to-night.

Lecture on Australia.

Remember the lecture this evening at the vestry of the Central church on "Reminiscences of Australian life," by Rev. Dr. Cuthbertson. Those who were so fortunate as to hear his previous lecture on the "House of Commons" will doubtless be present.

Andrews' Juvenile Ball

The sale of seats opens this morning at the box office for Mr. M. H. Andrews' juvenile ball, which will be given at the Opera House next Wednesday evening. There will be a large demand for seats and we advise an early call by those desiring the choice places.

Sullivan's Black Diamonds

The original Virginia Jubilee Singers of Norfolk, Va. composed of genuine colored people, will give a concert at the Opera House next Thursday (Fast Day) evening. The sale of seats will open to-morrow morning, the price of best seats being fixed at thirty-five cents. The following is from the New York Tribune:

These artists have achieved a most excellent reputation throughout the country. Their artistic interpretations of the humorous element in music have met with a hearty welcome from thousands of delighted audiences. Their engagement here has been a decided success.

Notes.

The famous tragedienne Madame Janauschek, will appear at the Opera House on Friday evening, 27th, and [illegible] "Marie Antoinette," one of her greatest impersonations.

The Pi Eta Club, a dramatic organization composed of Harvard students, will play at the Opera House on the 21st inst. They will give "Papa Perrichon" as played at the Boston Museum. The club numbers twenty acting members, one of the members being Mr. [illegible] Jennison, of this city.

Mr. Edward Taylor, business manager of Madame Janauschek, was in the city on Saturday.

John McCullough's season, which began on Sept. 4th, will end with the Cincinnati Dramatic Festival, May 5. He intends to pass the summer in absolute rest in Germany.

The Proctor Combination played in Oldtown on Friday evening.

The Bangor Amateurs had a very enjoyable trip to Dover, meeting with a very cordial reception and being greeted with an immense audience. Smooth renditions of "Miriam's Crime" and "Aunt Charlotte's Maid" were given on Friday evening, and the participants were enthusiastically received. The Amateurs have warm words of praise for the many kindnesses shown them by Landlord Blethen of Blethen House. After the performance Mr. Blethen treated the party to a fine supper.

A DANGEROUS GUIDE.

[Conclusion.]

This was a finish to the conversation, for as the tourists had already supposed, they were utterly out of the ordinary track, and neither of them had an idea of their position Linton received the man's impertinent answer with a philosophic shrug, resigning himself to the unpleasantness of a harder walk than he had anticipated, but Hardy, who had caught sight of his face as he spoke, began to feel seriously uneasy

"I say, Charlie," he said, "Don't do anything to make that fellow angry"

"Make him angry? It's the other way, I think I'm getting fairly savage with him for leading us this dance."

"I wouldn't tell him so if I were you"

"Why not?"

"Well, you see, if he were to become unpleasant it would be rather awkward for us wouldn't it?"

"I don't see that, we are two to one Besides, why should he turn unpleasant?"

"He saw you kissing Nina this morning"

"Did he? I can't help it, he shouldn't have been looking."

"Unfortunately, he was, and I can't help thinking he means to pay us out"

"You think he is taking us this round, by way of administering a lesson to us? By Jove! if I thought so——"

"Do keep still, Charlie, don't make him angry"

"Why, what on earth's come over you, Jack? Surely you are aren't afraid of that fellow?"

"Yes I am, I confess it"

"Why, I believe I could tackle him single handed, and I'm sure you could"

"Yes, but we are in his power If he means mischief he has nothing to do but to choose his time for doing it"

"Good heavens, Jack! do you mean that he thinks of losing us on the mountain?"

"I don't say that he does, but I fear it And if he does, how can we prevent him? All he has to do is to suddenly run off, we can never overtake him, as he knows very well In half an hour he would be out of sight, and we—where would we be?"

Linton grew pale but recovered himself They were were now walking along the side of a buttress of the mountain, up which they had been toiling The ascent was very gradual and they could talk without undue exertion Walter was a couple of yards in front, stolidly striding along

"What shall we do Jack?" asked Linton, who recognized in his companion a stronger mind "Is it any good to tell him that I meant nothing by kissing Nina, and that I shall never see her again?"

"No no, we must not let him suspect us or it is all up When we come to a good place we will propose stopping to eat something, one of us must keep near him all the time Or, better still, you must get faint and insist on taking his arm You must never let it go, as long as he is with us we are safe, for I scarcely expect his wish for revenge is strong enough to let him risk his own safety

I believe he means to thoroughly tire us out before he does anything, and that won't take long so far as I am concerned my legs are beginning to give way, and he is going on as fresh as paint Let's bring matters to a crisis"

"Hi Walter," shouted Hardy, "we're getting hungry We'll stop here and have some bread and cheese"

"There is a much better place a little further on" replied the guide, "where there is a spring"

"Shall we go on?" whispered Hardy to Linton "Be as careless as you can"

"As you like If there is a spring it will be a blessing"

"All right, lets go on if it isn't far," said Hardy aloud "But my friend is tired out, you must give him your arm, and I'll take the knapsack, if you like"

Linton moved forward to take his arm Hardy had already taken hold of the knapsack so quickly that the guide had no time to move away, even if he had wished. He made no objection to the proposal, and Linton put his arm through his, Hardy keeping close in the rear They could still talk to each other, for they knew that Walter did not understand English

In this manner they plodded wearily on for another mile, no slight distance when the path is over rocks and loose stones The scene was a most impressive one, but at present its exceeding desolation was the characteristic which the two friends felt most strongly Not a house was in sight and scarcely a tree, nothing but bare rocks and earth Below them lay a deep, dark valley with a rushing torrent which now looked a mere thread, above them black rocks capped with everlasting snows For all they could tell theirs were the first human footsteps that had ever fallen in this desolate spot

Walter had spoken the truth There was a spring ahead of them and the sight of it revived their spirits They took it in turns to drink one filling his cap while the other mounted guard over the guide The latter seemed to be conscious by this time that he was the object of suspicion but his action and look did not alter He ate his crust and drank the water without making any attempt to move away from them, and Hardy half began to hope that he had been wronging him At any rate he determined to make one more attempt at conciliation

"What time shall we reach Werhausen, Walter?" he asked

"I shall get there about six," he replied

"Allowing how long for rest?" asked Hardy purposely taking no notice of his using the word I

"You can rest as long as you like," was the answer "but I am going on"

"What do you mean? We've hired you as our guide and you'll have to stop or go on as we wish"

"I am not your guide I would not take money from you if I were starving I only brought you here to take you away from Nina It will be a long time before you find your way back again, my fine young gentlemen"

This was a declaration of war, and all felt it to be so Walter rose and faced them, standing about two paces off Hardy looked straight at him and said, "Do you mean that you have brought us out of our way because of some harmless flirting with Nina?"

"Yes!" shouted Walter losing all command of himself, and making his voice echo down the mountain, "yes you would come with your full purses and your smiling faces to turn her away from me, who love her and work for her and live from week to week on the chance of seeing her You give her fine presents which she wears, and tells me with an innocent smile that she does not know where the gentleman who gave them to her has gone, and ten minutes afterwards I find him at the cottage and wanting to kiss her She little thinks I saw him kiss her this morning when he sent me in to fetch his alpenstock But now it is my turn you are in my power"

Hardy stepped forward to seize him but he stretched out his hand

"Did you hear that?" he asked "Look down the valley"

A roll of thunder reverberated from mountain to mountain, and instinctively the two friends looked down into the dark valley below them At the same moment, with a mocking laugh, Walter sprang down the rock. His rush had succeeded, and they were alone on the mountain

But his triumph was a short one. Exasperated beyond measure at the trick, and desperate at the state of affairs, Hardy seized a stone as large as his two fists and threw it after the retreating guide. He was a good cricketer, and his missile sped truly, hitting Walter on the left shoulder. With a cry he fell forward, rolling over several times before he stopped. The two friends leaped wildly down the mountain in pursuit, reaching him while he was still on the ground. Linton seized him with a grip that showed he meant to give him no further chance of escape, when a groan broke from the guide's lips.

"Gently, Charlie," said Hardy, "you're hurting him, I'm afraid he's broken something What's the matter, Walter?"

"My arm," replied the guide feebly, "I think it is broken."

Hardy knew something of surgery, so he examined the arm and found it was broken below the elbow. It had become doubled up underneath him as he fell. Hardy tore up their handkerchiefs and bound the arm up after setting it as well as he could, a shirt from his knapsack was made into a tolerable sling, and when all had been done that could be done, they helped Walter back to the spring and bathed his shoulder and head, the one bruised by the stone, the other by the fall. He received their attentions without thanks, but without any objections. He was evidently in great pain, and appeared to have forgotten the recent excitement he was in.

"Now, Walter," said Hardy, after a short rest, "do you feel well enough to walk again? You can take my arm, and when I'm tired Linton will help you along. We must rest every now and then, for we don't feel very fresh. How far is it to the nearest house?"

"Two hours' walk away there is a cottage; we can't reach Werhausen to-night. We must start at once, or we shall have the storm on us."

Without more talk they rose and set off. It was a weary tramp, they began by retracing their steps for nearly an hour, and then turned off by the side of a pine forest in the direction of Werhausen. By this time it had come to Linton's turn to help the invalid, and he could not refrain from telling him how mistaken he was about Nina.

"She had no idea I was coming to the cottage, I did not know it myself till a few days ago. And that necklet I gave her two years ago was when she was a child and nursed me when I sprained my ankle. Besides, Walter, when she found that you were angry with her for wearing it, she determined to give it back to me Look here, here it is, she gave it to me before breakfast this morning, when you saw us together, and were so savage about it"

"Is that all true?"

"Every word, on my honor"

"Then I have been a jealous fool, and have come very near being something worse. I would have killed you if I had dared, as we climbed up the side of the mountain this morning, and now you are saving my life, though you know I meant to leave you on the mountain to die. But look, the storm is coming, you must run and leave me. The cottage is round the next point, you will get there in time.

"No, you must come too, walk as fast as you can"

"No, leave me, I will shelter under this rock till it is over"

"Nonsense! you'll never be able to walk a yard by yourself Lean on me as much as you like"

Walter had been getting more feeble during the last half hour, and had once or twice shown symptoms of fainting, it would have been almost certain death to leave him alone now with a storm rapidly approaching So the two friends toiled painfully on with their heavy burden, foot sore and weary, and scarce able to drag one foot before the other They had abandoned all hope of reaching the cottage before the storm broke, they knew that when once it had begun there was very little chance of proceeding, and hope of safety had almost died Suddenly, however Linton caught the sight of a peasant making all speed for the shelter of the cottage, they shouted to him and he came to their assistance Another moment and the rain came, a thick mist filled the air, and for all they could tell they might be a hundred miles from the little chalet Fortunately, the peasant knew the vicinity of his home blindfolded, and after a struggle against the tempest they were safely housed from its fury

A night's rest revived the strength of all three Under Walter's willing guidance they accomplished in a few hours the rest of the distance to Werhausen, where medical aid was procured Before they parted Walter took Linton aside and begged him to let him have the necklet which Nina had returned to him

"I will give it to her again" he said "and will ask her to wear it always and when I feel suspicious or jealous again I shall look at it, and it will remind me of the time that we have spent together on the road to Werhausen"—All the Year Round

Terrible Suffering.

Kidney and Bladder Complaints of Many Years Duration—His Word as Good as Gold—Case of City Assessor Francis Gomard, 89 Sumner St., Lowell, Mass.

"His word is as good as a bank note at any bank in Lowell, and I know it, was the opinion of a well known citizen in speaking of City Assessor Francis Gomard Your reporter found Mr Gomard at his pleasant home, which, with many others here, adorns Sumner street and fronts the charming park of South Common Mr Gomard said "I had been, as many of my friends in Lowell know a great sufferer from kidney and urinary troubles for a long time My physician said it was the result of diseased kidneys and enlargement of the prostate gland I had suffered terribly, and although my doctor's treatment had been the best which this city afforded I got no better I said finally 'Doctor, it's no use You have done all that is in your power to do, I know that but I must get help from some other source or die' Finally I was induced to try Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, a medicine which had been recommended very highly for kidney diseases I received help at once It has acted like a charm with me Why so? Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is an honest preparation, and I know it. I didn't think anything would help me but this has given me better health than any medicine ever prescribed for me I have recommended it to ever so many of my friends in the city of Lowell, and with the same result. They think there is nothing like Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY"

What Mr Gomard says can be depended upon, as any one acquainted with the gentleman knows

ELIXIR
For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable if properly attended to—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs then an inflammation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever It is free from strong opiates and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough but, by removing the cause, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well.
